Our work as an HFH Apostles' Build Partner took several forms

- Fundraising: We pledged for one sixth (two Apostle shares) of a $100,000 unit sponsorship. Thanks to the generous support of the congregation through various past activities, including several Golf Tournaments, our pledge is almost paid up. If you would like to contribute a direct financial gift to the project, consider adding a designated line item to your automated Simply Giving pledge, or just drop a check into the plate with “Habitat” on the check memo.
- Coaching: “Bridges Out of Poverty” is a program designed to help us understand the experience of being in generational poverty, and to work cooperatively to help people achieve economic stability. Through this program and the follow-on Habitat “Keys Program” we have the opportunity to serve as coaches for Habitat homeowners and others in our community who have completed a complementary program. Would you consider being a coach? If you would like to know more about this opportunity, talk to one of us at CTS who have served as coaches: Dan Hereid, Annie Kell, Jim Myra, Glen Roberts, Terry Wubbena, or Jeffrey Campeau.
- Construction: Building the first (of two) 4-unit dwellings at Coal Creek is now complete. Opportunities for us to participate as construction volunteers began in March 2011, and continued throughout the year. Preparing lunch for the construction volunteers was another way we helped. We had fun and hard work together on our Apostles' Build site.
